AIMS AND SCOPE

The Liceo Journal of Higher Education Research aims to publish new discoveries from the social sciences and humanities, business and public policy, mathematics, science and technology, which provide practical and cutting edge solutions to problems and issues confronting higher education. The Liceo Journal is multidisciplinary and international in character as evidenced by an editorial board whose members are sourced from the Philippines and abroad. Contributions have come from many universities and independent research agencies. Articles have tackled the problems and issues of teachers, students, planners, administrators, and other stakeholders.

A precondition for publication of a research article is the transfer of copyright from the authors to the Liceo Journal of Higher Education Research.
